After graduation, I moved to Yellowknife for employment. It was for a brief period as I received an offer from Siemens Canada to work as a Risk and Internal Control Analyst for them in February 2010. As an integral part of the Corporate Executive team at Siemens Canada, I assist with the implementation and remediation of internal controls while coordinating the Enterprise Risk Management duties. I also assist my team in meeting the requirements of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. In my off time, I usually travel around the GTA to click pictures as I have always been an avid photographer. I am also an active volunteer for International Development Relief Fund.

When you're not working, where can we find you and doing what?

Playing cricket at one of the indoor cricket facilities, taking pictures in or around Toronto, working out at the gym or reading a book.

Advice you'd give students fresh out of university?

Be patient. Never stop working hard and it will eventually pay off (I am serious!). Self pity is a crime – never indulge in self pity! And if something does not work out for you, it is because there's something better out there.

Favourite quote or motto you live by?

"Dripping water hollows out stone, not through force but through persistence"
- Publius Ovidius Naso

Favourite book and why?

The Kite Runner by Khaled Hosseini. It's a very complex story written ever so simply. The writer succeeds in portraying the right emotions and this book moves you like no other. I couldn't put this book down – finished it in three days, that too when I was on vacation
