IN CANADA

Driven by her passion for making a difference in the global community, after graduating from York Natalie worked in a United Nations partnership institute where she started a non-profit organization called HumanityLink International. There she developed programs such as the 'Yes Youth Can' Entrepreneurial Development Forum and volunteered at the Jamaican Literacy Camp.

Prior to joining Compass Group in 1997, Natalie progressed through operational leadership positions, including catering services at Canada's largest sporting venue, the Rogers Centre. She was instrumental in earning business from clients such as the Art Gallery of Alberta, Google, Copps Coliseum, and the Molson Hockey House at the 2010 Vancouver Winter Olympics in partnership with Wolfgang Puck. She was also a consistent recipient of the Top National Sales Performance and Sales Excellence Award.

As Director of Business Development for Compass Group Canada and after achieving outstanding results on all KPI's, she was delighted to accept a secondment to Compass Group Australia and is currently working in Sydney.

When not working, I can be found: Sailing down the Mekong River, spending time with family in Canada or sampling new wines in the Hunter Valley, Australia.

What am I most proud of: The positive impact the Jamaican Literacy Camp has had on the lives of the children, their families and the community as a whole.

Person I look up to or that inspires me:
I have been blessed with a wonderful family that has taught me to find inspiration in everything around me. I find inspiration in others and they help me to be a better person.
